

GIVING THEM A DIFFERENT FUTURE

SEVALAYA SAMARITAN GRAMODHARAN SAMITHY (SSGS) is an NGO that works to improve the living condition of the underprivileged, especially the tribal communities in and around Gudalur, Nilgiris District, South India.

FREE HEALTHCARE
THROUGH A HOSPITAL AND REGULAR MEDICAL CAMPS

Central to the activities is Sevalaya Samaritan Hospital that offers quality medical services including medicines free, to the target population. Sevalaya Samaritan is today a ten-bed hospital with two full time Doctors and five Nursing staff, Casualty, ICU, operating Theatre, Delivery Suite, X-Ray machine and Ultrasound Scanner, Clinical Lab and Pharmacy.

A medical team with a Doctor and Nurse visits hamlets in the tribal villages and treats patients who are unable to come to the hospital. Preventive vaccinations are carried out. Basic awareness regarding health and hygiene is created during these visits.

The Community College in Gudalur teaches tailoring so that women without financial means can support their families. A technology-enabled tuition centre has made education attractive to children who are mostly first generation scholars.

INITIATING TRIBAL CHILDREN INTO EDUCATION

FOOD AND SHELTER, HEALTH AND LIVELIHOOD

SSGS also supports the tribal communities with periodic supply of nutritious provisions, clothes and blankets and materials for repairing their huts.

History

Dr Herbert Herring, Former Director of the German Cultural Institute in Chennai and his wife Dr Lakshmi Chettur, during one of their travels, came across the many tribal communities around Gudalur. Their subhuman life touched their hearts and they soon settled down in Gudalur, to serve those communities. In 1991, they started Samaritan Gramodharan Samithy. The Doctor couple chose Gudalur as the operational location for this NGO, with the aim of helping the neglected tribals and other very poor people of Gudalur in Nilgiris district and its suburbs to a reasonable existence and a better future.

With 8 out of 10 persons suffering from ill health and malnutrition, medical aid and food were the initial priority. A clinic with one full time Doctor and one Nurse was opened. Over the years, the needs of the target community shaped the operations of the organisation.

In 2002, after the demise of Dr Herring, Dr Lakshmi carried the mission forward with fervour. In 2021, she transferred SGS to Sevalaya.

Genesis of Sevalaya: realization of a childhood vision

The thought process that later led to the formation of Sevalaya was born when V Muralidharan was 11 years old. While reading a poem by Mahakavi Bharathiyar, he came across an intense verse that said: “There’s nothing holier than providing education to the poor”.

This mantra germinated as Sevalaya, which means “Temple of Service”. Around the same time, young Muralidharan used to visit Sri Ramakrishna Math and got inspired by the powerful quotes of Swami Vivekananda. “Even if a dog goes hungry in this world, what is the point in having so many Gods, so many religions, so many temples?” Swami Vivekananda had asked persuasively. The mantra for feeding the hungry later took the shape of homes for the destitute, the poor and the orphans. Another lasting influence on young Muralidharan was Mahatma Gandhi’s autobiography, “The story of my experiments with Truth”, Gandhiji’s vision of villages becoming selfsupporting and self- dependent later shaped Sevalaya’s blueprint for rural development. Sevalaya came into being in May 1988. By then, Muralidharan had gained the confidence to do so, having finished his Engineering degree from the Indian Institute of Science, Bangalore and spent 4 years in IT industry. Muralidharan gave up his lucrative and flourishing career with Tata Consultancy Services in 2009, after completing 25 years in IT industry, to devote full time to Sevalaya.
